

Vision

Build the collective power of women joining together in support, compassion, safety, trust, and learning through embodied leadership practices.

Enliven and ignite the individual woman into her power, presence, purpose, confidence, and life-giving choice in order to become generative for local and global social, humanitarian, and planetary transformation.

Cultivate collective power with purpose to eliminate violence, disempowerment, and oppression to women and girls locally and globally, restoring the balance of power.

Evolve partnerships and alliances with men for positive, sustainable change.

Promise of the Work

Live on purpose with a relaxed and powerful presence.

Present your leadership expertise and authority to be well received at work.

Increase your leadership capacity.

Navigate challenging conversations w/ease.

Train your attention to be responsive vs. reactive.

Take effective action by accessing your whole self.

Promote resilience to make on-the-spot clear decisions.

Coordinate effectively with others to be more collaborative.

"How a woman spoke of her conviction and how her body was in-or not in-alignment with it, is what others instinctively gauged their willingness to follow her." ~Jacqui C., WG Participant

Values

Courage - Face yourself and find a way to belong with other women as allies.

Accountability – Hold each other accountable through collective power.

Freedom – Cultivate life-affirming choice.

Reverence for Life – Honor the interconnectedness of everything.

Women's Leadership Model

Women Generating was designed by Suzanne Roberts, Founder, Unifying Solutions, who has a long and rich history in promoting and provoking women's journeys to fulfill and trust their fullest life potential while honoring each individual woman's uniqueness through building collective power. As a Master Somatic Leadership Coach, she coaches leaders on purpose, resilience, and effectiveness in their perspective domains. WG was further refined in collaboration with The Institute on Women of Columbus OH.

The Women's Leadership Experience

Unifying Solutions ©

A 3-day workshop
January 24-26, 2020
Taos, NM

Offered by Wise Endeavors

Through deliberate somatic practice, women cultivate dignity and confidence, expressing their power and purpose in a way that's true to them to be received and respected by others. In turn, this generates measurable influence by creating a sustainable future personally, professionally, and systemically.

The collective power of women learning together ignites:

- ∞ Enlivened power
- ∞ Purpose
- ∞ Authority
- ∞ Confidence
- ∞ Life-giving choice

Women Generating is ...

A model and methodology of leadership that promotes and supports women in owning their full power unhindered by the limiting factors historical social norms and shaping has dictated.

This movement ignites women into their power, purpose, authority, confidence and enlivened choice through deliberate practice.

Our collective power will increase the number of women in positions of influence and create positive cultures of women in the work force, political systems, communities and home life.

We assert that women having each other's back in shared commitment and accountability will produce the change in equity and balance we seek for women and girls in the world.

Why "Collective Power"?

The term "collective power of women" was born out of founder Suzanne Roberts' somatic work with women in leadership groups. Through a process of trial and error, Suzanne realized that women experience their life of power and purpose more immediately through building collective power and tapping the energy cultivated. When resourced by the collective power, women effortlessly ground, settle with presence, and become generative with their purpose.

"I often reflect back on the Lead Mare Experience and how surprised I was when up from the depth of my soul came an unexpected need for expression. It definitively brought light and ignited an unconscious, dormant part of myself kept vibrant 'til today. It was certainly a stepping-stone in helping me bring forth my gifts and self-confidence in leading women's circles and other groups in general." ~Irina B., WG Participant

Wise Endeavors' mission is to act wisely in the complexity of all human relations. In our programs, we cultivate an embodied presence through somatic practices. (Soma is the Greek word for "the body in its living wholeness".) When we reconnect the vast intelligence of the body with the mind and spirit, powerful and lasting change is available.
